Wellman comes to county

Mood upbeat on 'wonderful day'

BY ED LEPOMA

The mood was upbeat and victorious as hundreds of political, business and civic leaders gathered to hear what was already the buzz word around

Wellman Inc., one of the world's largest producers of plastics and polyester fibers, picked Hancock County out of an initial list of 100 sites, as the place it will build a new state-of-the-art manufacturing

The first phase of the initial $300 million construction proiect at Port Bienville Industrial Park will begin coming out of the ground by this fall, and the local economy will soon feel the ripple effects of executives moving into the area.

According to "Pete" Woody, who will be moving here from South Carolina and will be plant manager, about 15 engineers have started looking for homes in the area for their

The landing of Hancock County's newest industry, Wellman of Mississippi, Inc., involved thousands of hours of negotiations by persons representing many agencies.

This included the governor and State Legislature, Mississippi Department of Economic Development and Community Development (MDECD), Mississippi Business Finance Corporation, Mississippi Major Economic Impact Authority, Mississippi Department of Education, Hancock County Board of Supervisors, Hancock County Tax Assessor, Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission, Pearl River Community College, and Wellman of Mississippi, Inc.

Location, labor key factors

BY RICHARD MEEK

Location and the availability of a non-union labor force were the swing factors in Wellman, Inc. selecting Port Bienville Industrial Park to build a plastics manufacturing plant, according to company president Tom Duff.

Duff, in an exclusive interview with The Sea Coast Echo Thursday, said the port's natural waterways, plus the accessibility to a rail system, made Port Bienville a natural choice

Wellman will manufacture polyethylene terephthalate (PET), a substance used in the production of plastic bottles, at its new plant. The product will be transported by rail, and truck.

However, much of the raw materials to be used in the PET production will arrive by barge, and shipped over to the plant by pipeline.

Troubled track

As of Tuesday afternoon, construction of a new track had not yet begun at Joe McCullough Stadium (above), although the interior fence had been removed. Construction was to have begun on Feb. 1. There is growing concern that Bay High's early season football games may have to be moved. (Echo staff photo by Richard Meek)

Track delays at Bay High

BY RICHARD MEEK

A planned track facility at Bay High School is stumbling out of the starting blocks, and the delay may eventually effect the upcoming football season.

Additionally, Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District officials reluctantly agree that the project, originally estimated to cost $220,000, may eventually carry a pricetag of $300,000.

Construction of the track was scheduled to have begun by Feb. 1. Bay High's soccer schedules for both the boys and girls teams were adjusted so crews from Southwestern Recreational Industries, Inc., of Leander Texas, could begin construction on time. Hopes were to have the track finished so Bay High's commencement exercises could be held at Joe McCullough Stadium. Contingency plans call for graduation to be held in the school gym.

As of early last week, construction had yet to begin. By Friday, equipment was in place and construction was under way, although delayed after one day by weather.

There is growing concern among school board officials that continued delays of the beleaguered project may force Bay High's early season home football games to be played at an opponent's site, a move that would significantly impact the school's athletic budget.

"We went out of our way to make arrangements (so construction could begin on time)."

Beach contractor to receive payment

BY MARY G. SEILEY

City officials agreed Tuesday to make final payments to the engineer who designed the Bay St. Louis sand beach, and the company which built it. But council remains clearly dissatisfied with the quality of the mile-long strand, and is pushing for action to correct problems it has encountered. Runoff from the residential bluff accumulates on the beach and, in spots, has created stagnant pools of water. Some spots are an unsightly brownish color, and vegetation has begun to grow in patches along the beach.

Public Works Director Ron Vanney said William Mitchell engineering firm officials had installed a 360-foot "sock pipe" in one troubled area last week, resolving one of the more profound drainage problems, between Ulman Avenue and Carroll Street. The pipe has netting to prevent sand from accumulating in it, as it carries runoff between major catch basins

Vanney said installation of similar piping along the beach would cost some $10,000.

But he said that might not be necessary after regular maintenance of the beachfront gets underway. While Hancock County officials have pledged to grade the beach routinely, county crews have turned the sand only once since it was laid in place a year ago.

Vanney said the county delay has been caused by lack of equipment -- but he's offered to provide the equipment for the work if the county will provide an operator.

He urged council to give the maintenance route a try before buying and installing more pipe.

Meanwhile, council agreed that Mitchell and River Road Construction Co. deserved payment under terms of their contracts.

Council member James Thriffiley expressed concern that hy releasing final payments for the work, the city will have no recourse to have the pooling situation corrected if maintenance doesn't do the trick.

One portion of the beachfront is in such bad shape. Thriffiley said, it's "totally disgusting. It looks like overflow from a sewer pipe."

Standard site on agenda at school meeting

BY TRACI BONNEY

The Hancock County school board is making special accommodations for its next recess

The board will meet Wednesday at the Hancock High School library so there will be more audience capacity, since the Standard rubbish site will be on the agenda.

The school board made the change in its meeting location after hearing from board attor-ney Steve Benvenutti at the school board's April 17 recess meeting.

Benvenutti reported that a resolution from the county board of supervisors had been hand delivered to his office that morning. The resolution asked that the school board consider selling between 95.7 and 100 acres of land to the county for the rubbish site and landfill.

The school board took no action on the matter Wednesday, since it was presented as part of the attorney's regular report and not as an agenda

When asked if the board needed to take it under advisement, Benvenutti said, "You

Although Tom Williams and Jerry Ladner made an appeal on their local radio show for residents to attend the school board meeting and make known their feelings about the matter, only four people — including Williams and Ladner — appeared. When told that the landfill was not on the agenda, they left.

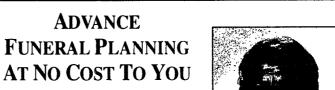

The next recess meeting of the school board will be at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 24, in the high school library. The school is located off Hwy. 603 at the Stennis Airpark.

extensive testing with amazing results, Lightning 828 is now available in the United States. Scientists are amazed at Lightning 828's results on improved memory, attitude and athletic performance. In a double blind cross-over trial on university students in Italy, Lightning 828 was given twice daily for 12 weeks. The results were astonishing. Students obtained higher scores in math, logic and physical education.

This new discovery has been a windfall for working and active people that seem to run short of energy around mid-afternoon and need a little extra lift. Lightning 828 when taken in the morning gives a sustained, balanced form of energy throughout the day.

During an interview in Chicago, a beautician stated, "I used to go home exhausted after being on my feet all day. Now it's just incredible. I go home with extra energy and really enjoy my family more." Lightning 828 is a necessary boost for students, professionals and senior citizens.

"CUEVAS" QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

It was great Thursday morning to have had an opportunity to be at the announcement for a new industry coming to our county.

Great was it to see so many concerned community leaders, along with our elected officials, on hand to hear the official announcement first hand.

The county is buzzing with the word that Wellman of Mississippi, Inc., will be located at the Port Bienville Industrial Park in Ansley.

The official announcement was made Thursday morning by Governor Kirk Fordice at a press conference held at the Our Lady of the Gulf Community Center, Bay St. Louis, and later in the day at the State Capitol in Jackson.

When the plant is completed in about two years or so, there will be an employment of about 250 with an investment of over $300 Million.

Plans call for a second and third phase to increase investment of about 1 billion dollars.

During construction, jobs for the plant will be over 1,000 to include construction and indirect employment. So as you can see, this new plant in Hancock County is a tremendous project, not only for Hancock County, but for the state of Mississippi.

And what did it take to get such a big project here? Really, it is only because of many working together for the same goal, which is to provide economic development for our community.

This includes the Governor, State Legislature, Mississippi Department of Economic Development and Community Development, Mississippi Business Finance Corporation, Mississippi Major Economic Impact Authority, Mississippi Department of Education, Hancock County Board of Supervisors, Hancock County Tax Assessor, Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission, Pearl River Community College, Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, and most important, Wellman of Mississippi, Inc.

I sure hope I haven't forgotten some agency or someone.

Anyway, we know we were against stiff competition to land the plant, but it just goes to show what working together can do when everyone in on the same team.

I realize that Gov. Kirk Fordice is on a tight schedule, but it was sure great for him to take the time to come to Hancock County and make the official announcement and extend a welcome to Wellman, Inc.

I too, want to welcome everyone from Wellman to Hancock County and wish them the best. We need you, want you in our community and want you to be a tremendous success at Port Bienville.

The week of April 21-27 has been designated as National Infant Immunization Week.

At the Hancock County Board of Health Department, Human Services Complex, 3062 Longfellow Drive, special events are planned for Monday.

There will be face painting, balloons, cookies and cokes as well as other surprises for visitors. And Barney plans to visit all day.

The special week places emphasis on the standard immunizations for children and even adults.

Today an infant needs several different immunizations before they are school age.

tions before they are school age.

Parents should be aware of the necessary immunizations, and this week would be a fine time to visit the local Board of Health for information.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Canadian resident seeks whereabouts of sister

Dear Editor:

During the 1950s and 1960s, there were 200-300 Newfoundland children adopted by American military servicemen and their families stationed at various military bases in Newfoundland, Canada. It may seem like an impossible task, but I am trying to locate one of these adoptees.

I am searching for my adopted sister, and I'm not sure she's even aware that she may have a birth sibling, She was born in Corner Brook, Newfoundland on Sept. 24, 1955 and was adopted by an USAF family stationed at Ernest Harmon Air Force Base, Stephenville, Newfoundland. The adoption was finalized in 1957.

The birth name she was given was Marilyn Judy, but that may not be her present name. She was the second of two children adopted by this couple.

If there is anyone who has any information that may be of some help, I would certainly appreciate it. I have been actively searching for three years and would very much like to locate her. I feel she may be living in an area in the USA that was home to a military base.

Thank you very much for your help by printing this letter in your local newspaper. Anyone with any information may contact me at the below name and address.

APRIL 21-27 · STATEWIDE CLEANUP SPONSORED BY THE MISSISSIPPI DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

Trash Bash '96 — 'You Can Help'

Litter in our state is a major problem. It is a needless eye sore, a hindrance to economic development and a complete waste of taxpayers' money. It doesn't have to be this way. Mississippi could, with your help, be litter free.

Each spring, activists from around the state band together to remove litter from our highways, cities and parks through an event sponsored by the Mississippi Department of Transportation (MDOT) known as Trash Bash. This year's eighth bash is scheduled for April 21-27.

You can become a part of Trash Bash '96 by volunteering to help a local organization, such as an Adopt-A-Highway group, pick up litter. If there are no such organizations within your area, volunteer to start one.

Progress is being made. Keep America Beautiful and the Federal Highway Administration last year presented MDOT with a prestigious first place national award for the best litter prevention program conducted by a state transportation agency.

Also last year, the Mississippi Legislature passed Senate Concurrent Resolution 630, which designates the third week of April as Trash Bash Week in Mississippi. The purpose is to draw attention to the problem and to solicit volunteers in the battle against litter.

Join the team. Our state is far too beautiful to trash, and we must act now. Let's end litter during Trash Bash

FROM THE SENATE

By Senator Trent Lott

Protecting our borders

The latest census found approximately 395,000 people living in the Jackson metropolitan area. Each year more people than that enter this country illegally.

Over one million people a year are caught trying to cross the border to come into the United States. They are repatriated. But others are not. Over four million illegal immigrants are currently in this country who were not caught. And that number is growing by about 300,000 to 400,000 per year.

This influx of illegal immigrants needs to be remedied. The Immigrant Control and Financial Responsibility Act would do just that. The bill adds about 5,000 new border patro agents over five years, implements a test-phase employment verification check, and increases penalties for document fraud and alien smuggling. New standards would be established for immigrants' eligibility to work and receive government benefits, and penalties for knowingly employing ineligible aliens would also increase.

The bottom lie is not that Americans are fed up with immigrants in general, for orderly immigration is good for any nation. Diversity is a source of our strength, prosperity and proud history. The root issue here is uncontrolled immigration.

An article from The Washington Post entitled "INS Has a Hard Time Deporting Illegal Immigrants It Can't Find," states that 83,793 deportation orders were issued to illegal aliens last year, and 44.5 percent were "issued for immigrants who could not be found." Those illegal immigrants disappear and then surface at a later date. At this point, the cycle of unlawfulness is well under way with the alien falsifying document after document in order to remain in America.

Unfortunately many crimes go well beyond fake IDs and social security cards. Some illegal aliens cross the border not to find work or live the American Dream, but to perpetrate brutality against our citizens. This is beyond tolerance.

American citizens have a moral right to secure borders and to their own protection. These are principal jobs of our government, and our people should expect no less.

Yet with such large numbers of aliens crossing our borders unlawfully, the rights of our citizens are infringed upon. When illegal aliens cannot find jobs they often revert to cheating the system for free health care and welfare, which are better here than in their counties. They take advantage of our generosity, and unfortunately our generosity — in this aspect — has turned to neglect over the last several decades.

We must regain control of this runaway train and begin responsible immigration practices. This bill addresses various policies this government has had, proposes changing some, keeping others, and creating new ones. Whatever the many arguments reflect, one national conviction stands clear: entry into this country is too easy.

Yet the positive light on this situation is that people everywhere look to America as a land of promise. They want to come here to build a better life and fulfill their drams. In order to allow that to happen without harming our own citizens, we must develop a better immigration policy for this country. We must find a way to welcome diversity without tolerating criminal action.

America always has been, and always will be, a country devoted to accepting the tired and the poor, but we simply cannot accommodate everyone. We must have an orderly and controlled process that protects America too.

Which Mississippi University has its own laboratory school for teacher training which has been cited as a model of effective school practices?

A Mississippit University for Women's home to The Demonstration School, the state's first and only "laboratory school" for teacher education. The Dem School, operated jointly by MTW and the Columbus City Schools as a K-6 grade school, was spot-lighted in 1994 in the rational publication, School Improvement Research Studies, as a model in schooling practices. The school provides students majoring in education with unlimited opportunities for early and continuing "handson" experience, a critical factor in the training of effective teachers. "Priest LeDoux, Pastor LeDoux, Reverend" or anything similar is the only way some folks will address me. Those forms of address in many instances have one purpose in common: to avoid calling me or anyone else father.

'Call no one on earth your father; you have but one Father in heaven" (Mt. 23:9), is the origin of the belief of many that father is an inappropriate title for a minister.

Theologically speaking, God is not a Father, since God is a pure spirit without any kind of body. It is just a theologically correct, more properly incorrect, to refer to God as Mother.

There are even arguments which indicate Mother is more fitting than Father, considering how God and mother share more intimately in the notion of creation or giving birth, followed by prolonged years of nurturing.

God the Father is a convenient but inexact title.

rendered: "Call no one on earth mother; you have but one Mother in haven."

Jesus hardly forbade us to call our earthly papa father. Who would hesitate to call her/ his daddy father? Father — it is hard to resist adding mother is the greatest title, but not the most prestigious compared to, let's say, president.

Obviously, Jesus meant that no one should glory in any title, for all glory and praise belong to our Father in heaven. That said, let's more back to that socalled title by which Catholic priests and some Protestants are called.

I say so-called because it is not properly a title. If it were a title, it would be used on envelopes addressed to priests, and it would be used on official programs. The formal address of priests, oddly enough, is "Rev."

Father is not properly a title, but much more a nickname. It is a source of huge merriment to me to observe people of any denomination tapdancing around "father." Impishly, I wait to see where they fall on the spectrum.

At one extreme, there are traditional Catholics who cannot bring themselves to say anything else but father. At the other extreme are those who learn my nickname and, except in formal settings, call me nothing else but "Tootie." Others fall anywhere in between, addressing me as Jerome, with or without a title, LeDoux, Gaston, Sir, Mr., Dr. or some imaginative concoction. It is all very droll and altogether entertaining as people fumble to make a statement.

If we can call God Papa (Abba in Aramaic), we can call one another what we pretty well please. Paul puts it all in perspective: "You received a spirit of adoption, through which we cry, Abba, 'Father" (Rom. 8:

8A-THE SEA COAST ECHO-SUNDAY, APRIL 21, 1996

Do you need a money manager or a broker?

What's the difference between a broker and a money manager?

A lot. There is much confusion about who does what in the securities industry. While the labels may seem trivial, they're actually very important. Understanding the functions, responsibilities and costs associated with each type of financial professional is the first step in getting the service you want and need.

Basically, there are three types of financial service groups:

people who manage money (registered investment people who recommend money managers (consultants);

* people who buy or sell securities (brokers). Registered investment advisers, or money managers, typically have one function: they manage investment portfolios for a fee. Professional money managers include mutual funds, insurance companies, dent money managers. Investors deposit money with these institutions and authorize the money managers to invest it at their discretion. Money managers usually charge a fee for this service and pass on any investment expenses to the investor.

The most well-known money managers are mutual funds. Their functions and charges are usually clearly defined and create little confusion.

Insurance companies typically confine their investments to fixed or variable annuities and generally charge fees and commissions for managing money.

Trust companies, which are usually associated with banks, normally charge a fee for their services in addition to any charges associated with the investments.

Independent money managers are not necessarily affiliated with banks, insurance companies or mutual funds. Their only function is to manage portfolios of securities. They sell no products, receive no commissions and are paid by fees from their clients. Independent money managers typically depend on outside consultants to recommend them to clients.

That leads us to the next financial services category, people who recommend money managers. These are investment management consultants, and their job is to obtain clients and help them define investment goals, establish investment strategies and balance risk and reward. They develop the plan. Then they refer the client to a money manager who carries out the plan by making investments.

. Investment management consultants are compensated in various ways. In some way, however, it affects the total return on the investment. Therefore, it is vital to ask and understand how each member of the consulting team is compensated before entering into an agreement.

While some larger investors can afford the services of private money managers and investment management consultants, the needs of most individual investors can be met by the people who sell investments. They go by a variety of names: investment representative, financial-services professional, registered representative, broker. They are paid by commissions on the investments their clients buy.

Don't worry if you sometimes refer to your broker as a money manager. Making a mistake with someone's title if OK. By making a mistake by choosing the wrong type of financial professional is not. Be sure you get — and pay for — only the services you need.

Farm Credit District reports strong financial performance The Tenth Farm Credit Dislower interest rates, a generally

trict showed continued improvement and growth in its loan portfolio in 1995, according to year-end financial results released recently. The agricultural lending cooperative's loan volume of $3.8 billion at December 31, 1995, reflects an increase of $104.7 million from a year earlier. Production lending grew by 6 percent last year, while mortgage lending increased by 1.8 percent.

The Tenth Farm Credit District includes the Austin-based Farm Credit Bank of Texas, 47 Federal Land Bank Associates (FLBAs) which make long-term land and rural housing loans in Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas; and 17 Production Credit Associations (PCAs) which make agricultural production loans in Louisiana,

New Mexico and Texas. The growth was attributed to favorable economy and strong crop prices which led to higher demand for agricultural financing.

The district capital position continued to improve as well. At December 31, 1995, district capital totalled $854.1 million, an increase of $13.9 million or 1.7 percent from year-end 1994.

The growth in capital was primarily attributable to $29.3 million in net income earned in 1995. Net interest income was up $12.6 million, or 8.6 percent, ending the year at $159.8 million.

Nationally, the farm credit system reported combined net income of $1.165 billion for the year ended Dec. 31, 1995, as compared with combined net income of $1.005 billion for the prior vear.

World of art opens with NOMA classes Whirligigs and wondrous rooms, cartooning and traveling through art history — these are only some of the fun topics to be covered in the spring and summer art classes and family workshops being offered at the

for children NOMA's art classes are separated into two groups by age. Morning classes, 10 a.m.-noon, are geared toward children 5-7. Afternoon classes, 1:30-3:30, are for children 8-12.

Classes are limited to 25 students. Spring classes will be offered on Saturdays (five classes total) and the cost is $40 for NOMA members and $50 for non-members

Summer classes are offered on Tuesdays and Thursdays or Mondays and Wednesdays (six classes total) and cost $50 for NOMA members and $60 for non-members. Classes fill up quickly, so prompt pre-registration is suggested. Children's Art Classes are conducted by two qualified art teachers and volunteer assistants. Teachers introduce students to the permanent collection and special exhibitions. In the classroom they emphasize imagination and creativity rather than developing technical skills.

Classes provide students with an atmosphere in which to express their creativity using interesting art materials, which are included in the price of the class.

For pre-registration call (504) 483-2746. The schedule is: Make It Move!, ages 5-7, 10 a.m.-noon. Make art that moves in the spring breezes. New Orleans sculptor Lin Emery, whose work constitutes the exhibition Borrowing the Forces of Nature, has found wind to be an inspiration for her art. After seeing Emery's exhibition, students will build and decorate mobiles, windmills, kites and other fun projects suing cardboard, wire, paint and mixed media. Room With A View, ages 8-12, 1:30-3:30 p.m. Imagine walking through a Van Gogh painting or stepping back in time to enter a mummy's tomb. In this class, students will work collaboratively to create an environment that the viewer may enter. Students will use paint, sculpture and other techniques to create this artwork.

Summer Session I Mondays and Wednesday

June 10-26 Art Around the World, ages 5-7, 10 a.m.-noon. Children will travel the wide world of art by exploring the people who make it and the places they live. Classes will involve tours of the museum's collection followed by time for students to create their own works. Class projects will cover painting and sculpture from worldwide cultures, including African, Asian and Native American.

Cartooning, ages 8-12, 1:30-3:30 p.m. Explore the world of visual storytelling. Students will use their imaginations to create comics and cartoons that are as fun to make as they are to read. The class will focus on drawing techniques that will help students convey movement, emotion and visual excitement. An emphasis will also be placed on story planning. Summer Session II Tuesdays and Thursdays

June 11-27 Color My World, ages 5-7, 10 a.m.-noon. Color is the spice of art. If you can't use color, you can't cook up a tasty painting. In this class, using a variety of media, students will earn the magic that only color can achieve — how it can be used to create moods, humor or excitement. Color theory will also be part of these fund and understandable lessons.

Book Making, ages -12, 1:30-3:30 p.m. Those in this class will make an actual book with a hard cover, then produce artworks inside their books. Each art project will encompass a variety of media, including watercolor, collage, tempera, pen and ink and printing. Students can create a single story or a group of images. The book format will provide a unique keepsake for their pictures and Family Workshops NOMA offers Sunday afternoon art workshops, designed as a collaborative venture where children and their adult companions create an art proiect together. Children attending should be between 5 and 12 years old and must be accompanied by an adult. Pre-registration is required. After a tour of NOMA's exhibitions to view works related to the day's assignment, participants proceed to the classroom to create their own art project. Family workshops have been generously underwritten by

The Rosa Mary Foundation. Cost of the workshop is $5 per family for members and $6 per family plus the cost of admission for non-members. All art supplies are provided by NOMA. All workshops are from 2-4 p.m. To pre-register, contact Abigail Amols at (504) 483-2746. The schedule is:

April 21, The Painted Bowl. The bowl, as an art form, is truly international. Ancient American, African, European and Asian cultures have all used the bowl as a surface for expression. After seeing examples of works from these cultures in NOMA's collection, participants will use pre-made ceramic bowls and put their painting artistry and imagination to work decorating the bowls both inside and out.

May 19, Art This Moves Y You. Kinetic art is designed to move; whether is it powered by wind, water or a mechanical device is up to the artist. New Orleans sculptor Lin Emery produces beautiful and fascinating examples of kinetic sculpture. After viewing the exhibition Lin Emery: Borrowing the Forces of Nature, students will explore the visual and technical components found in her work. They will then use paper, cardboard and other materials to create pivoting and mobile constructions. May 26, Spirit Dolls. The Kachina dolls of the Hopi and Zuni tribes of the American Southwest function as educational tools of the societies from which they come. Illustrating some of the beneficial spirits of society - wisdom, love, bravery, peace - Kachina dolls embody the cultural history of a people. A brief tour will introduce this fine Native American art and its specific use of form and surface design. Using wood, paint, fabric and feathers, participants will create their own spirit dolls. June 2, Whirligigs. Closely related to the weathervane, the whirligig is a figural device powered by the wind. It is usually portrayed by a human or animal figure with parts that flail in the wind. This ingenious art form not only pointed out the wind direction, it also allowed viewers to gauge veloctiy.

Plus, they were fun. Students will tour Lin Emery: Borrowing the Forces of Nature for inspiration on winddriven art forms and then use cardboard, paint, wire and wood to produce their own humorous renditions of a whirligig.

June 16, Figuratively Speaking. Art that relates to the human-figure has been a facet of artistic creation since people first drew on cave walls. NOMA's rich collection of contemporary and ancient figures — from a Degas dancer to a Mayan ballplayer to North African ancestral poles — offers a variety of artists' interpretations of the human form. Using clay, participants will explore the many possibilities of the body on flat surfaces and in the

To shepherd can be defined as to watch over carefully, to guide, to protect, and to feed, either spiritually or physically. We all probably have at least one earthly shepherd. It may be a parent, a pastor, an educator, or a good friend. Although these people are here to help and give us strength in times of need, they may sometimes fall short of our expectations. However, our Heavenly Father is a perfect Shepherd. We, with our limited knowledge may not understand His ways, or why certain things may happen. Like little children, who don't know why they must be subject to the doctor's vaccination, we sometimes can't see God's plan for us. The Bible tells us all things happen for the good of those who love the Lord, and putting our trust in Him will not eliminate our adversities, but it will help us to better accept them.

> Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever

> > --KJV Psalm 23:6

Triduum scheduled at St. Ann-St. John

The Triduum of the Holy Infant Jesus of Good Health will be held at St. Ann's Church in Clermont Harbor Thursday, Apr. 25 at the 8:30 a.m. Mass; Friday, Apr. 26 at the 8:30 a.m. Mass; and Saturday, Apr. 27 at the 5 p.m. Mass. Holy Infant's Feast Day celebration is Sunday, Apr. 28 at the 8 a.m. Mass at St. John's in Lakeshore and at the 10:30 a.m. Mass at St. Ann's.

For information, call 467-4746. Holy Infant of Good Health

In 1939, the visible grace and smile of God came upon the beautiful city of Morelia, Michoacan, Mexico. From this moment on He gave the city His presence, through the small wooden image of the Infant Jesus, venerated in the home of Rosa Maria Guadalupe Claderone.

On April 21, 1942, the title 'Holy Infant of Good Health" (Santo Nino de la Salud), was given to this image of the Infant Jesus, deriving from the amazing cures and recoveries, for the physical and spiritual needs of many in Morelia. The archbishop of Morelia approved private devotion to the Holy Infant Jesus of Good Health, and later in 1994, the statue was crowned and public devotion was approved.

In 1957 the archbishop of Morelia had the Holy Infant brought and placed in the Church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel until a splendid shrine was built for Him. This beautiful church, where the miraculous image of the Holy Infant is

A copy of the image was delivered to His Holiness Pope John XXIII on Jan. 5, 1959. Rome has granted a Plenary Indulgence to all pilgrims to the Infant's

April 21 is the Holy Infant's Feast Day, but the last Sunday in April is celebrated as His Feast Day each year in Morelia.

Many people have prayed to the Holy Infant over the years and received healings. But most of all, they have found amazing strength to accept God's will.
